A lot of candidates like to talk about the economy, education and the environment . . .

... but unless we take on our biggest challenge, talk is all we'll get.

That's why we need Chris Reykdal— the only progressive candidate with the courage to take on tax reform.

Washington State's tax structure was recently rated the most regressive in the country. Chris Reykdal believes that we must reform the system from top to bottom.

Supporting I-1098 and Revenue Reform

Like many of you, Chris Reykdal wants to see our schools fully funded in our state. But unless we overhaul the manner in which our state generates revenue, we'll never have the funds we need. That's why Chris supports examining our tax code from top to bottom, eliminating loopholes enjoyed by big big oil and big banks, and shifting some tax burden to the very wealthy, who can most afford it.

Cutting B&O Taxes

Our small businesses are hampered by the Business and Occupation Tax that taxes gross receipts rather than profits. In the Legislature, Chris will be the leading advocate to reform the B&O Tax so that our small, family owned community businesses can compete more fairly with big multi-national box stores.

Keeping Property Taxes Low

Families across our region are struggling with rising property taxes, and many of our senior citizens on fixed incomes are being forced out of their homes. Chris supports cutting the state's property tax rates so home owners aren't punished for owning property.
